Manufactured in Edmonton

The Douglas "Monarch" Ledger

This Ledger surpasses all others for strength and convenience, simplicity and beauty of design. The metal part is made entirely of steel—strong and light. The back is round and padded with corduroy, covered with leather and cannot scratch the desk. It has four posts and expands 100%. The "Monarch" is a screw ledger and has no springs to wear out or get out of order. It is bound in corduroy and Russia leather, and gold finished. Made in all sizes.

The "Douglas" Sectional Post Binder

This binder is used for such a multitude of purposes that it is as impossible as it is unnecessary to enumerate them. There are more Sectional Post Binders in use than all other binders combined, and no other binder can replace it, as it is the only style that really has a minimum capacity of one sheet and no reasonable limit to its maximum. Made in all sizes. Either corduroy and leather or canvas and leather.

We carry all the different rulings and sizes of ledger leaves in stock ready for immediate shipment, punched and trimmed to fit any binder.

Introductory

The Ninth Annual Edition of Henderson's Edmonton City Directory is the record of an unique period in the history of the City. The growth and industrial development represented in this volume is relatively far in excess of the progress indicated in any previous issue.

The volume is the result of careful work; the product of an experienced field and office force, under expert supervision, and working in accordance with the latest and best methods known in directory publishing. The publishers feel confident that they are supplying their patrons with a directory that will meet the requirements of the most exacting.

Possibly no other volume or catalogue of statistics could more accurately portray the city's expansion and progress, nor more minutely represent its industrial growth and development in every department. The directory is the one and only detailed record of a city's prosperity.

This edition embraces the area of Greater Edmonton, comprising the territory of the City proper, South Edmonton (formerly Strathcona), North Edmonton, Calder and all adjoining sub-divisions, suburbs and environs.

The form of the pages is much the same as last year, but to provide for the immense increase in information, and to prevent the book from becoming unwieldy, the publishers have substituted a lighter and a better paper. Our patrons will doubtless appreciate the improved binding made possible by the change in stock.

Population

It is customary for Directory Publishers to give an estimate of the population of a city based on the number of names the Directory contains. Henderson Directories use the multiple of 2.50 and consider it conservative, but the Publishers wish it to be thoroughly understood that their figures deal with GREATER EDMONTON, and further to regard these figures as an estimate only. THEY ARE NOT A CENSUS.

The Directory method is generally accepted as the proper manner in calculating the population of a city. In adopting the multiple stated, there is always the same probability that the Publishers have been as much conservative as liberal. Whether or not our population figures are correct, THE INCREASE RECORDED IS DEFINITE. The estimate now arrived at gives the Population of Greater Edmonton, 63,005 Souls

The appended Table indicates the increase in the population of Edmonton since the first issue of Henderson's Directory in 1884:—

YEAR	No. of Names	Estimated Population	Increase %
1884		500
1888		600
1898		2,750
1904		6,500	136.00
1908		23,000	254.00
1909		24,000	4.34
1912	20,296	50,740	105.00
1913	25,202	63,005	24.17

The Publishers thank the Public for their courtesy and kindness in supplying information and the Subscribers for their liberal support in the production of this work.

May 1, 1913.

Greater Edmonton

Greater Edmonton is made up of: Edmonton, on the north side of the North Saskatchewan; Edmonton South—formerly Strathcona—and North Edmonton. Amalgamation of Edmonton and Strathcona took place in 1912, and the result is one of the strongest cities in Western Canada.

Edmonton is splendidly located geographically, just south of the centre of the great province of Alberta. The city stands in the very path of trade and is the true gateway to the vast and rich Peace River country to the northwest.

This advantage of location has caused the railways to centre upon Edmonton, and the city is the chief point in Alberta on the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific systems, with the Canadian Pacific so strongly interested that it has two lines into Edmonton—one direct from St. Paul, Minnesota—and is building a terminal station in Edmonton, and, together with the city, is completing a high-level bridge that will carry Canadian Pacific trains into the heart of Edmonton. The Grand Trunk Pacific is building west to Prince Rupert, and the Canadian Northern west to Vancouver. Railroads are also building into the Peace River country and will open this empire of the northwest to regular trade in a year or two.

Edmonton is strong for municipal ownership and operates all public utilities, such as the street railway, power and light service, telephones and waterworks. The city operates under single tax and has abolished all taxes except on land and for local improvements.

Edmonton is the capital of Alberta, and the provincial government has just completed a new parliament building at a cost of nearly $3,000,000.

Commercially and industrially Edmonton is strong and growing stronger very fast. There are fifteen banks in the city and eleven branch banks. Edmonton's wholesale houses supply a country twice as large as the British Isles, and as big as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and New Jersey. There are 100 industrial establishments in Edmonton, including: flour mills, packing plants, iron and brass foundries, saw mills, brick yards, sash and door mills, tent and mattress factories, creameries, box factories, breweries, bottling works, cigar factories, tanneries, manufacturing jewelers, stucco works, vinegar and pickle factories, cement products works, etc.

Edmonton, besides being the seat of the University of Alberta, has excellent public schools and twenty-four schoolhouses, three colleges, a preparatory school for boys, and two business colleges. There are forty churches, four theatres, and a number of good moving picture houses. There are twenty-two hotels and the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad is building a hotel which will cost $2,000,000 completed.

The C. P. R. have prepared plans for a new Station and Depot to be constructed immediately this summer. With the opening of the new high level bridge connecting Edmonton and Strathcona a great stride forward will be registered in the progress of Greater Edmonton
